

Due to the Coronavirus Pandemic

For your safety and the safety of all employees, all persons entering the Public Safety Answering Center must undergo a mandatory body temperature screening.

Body temperature screening will be conducted by a walk-through scanner and/or a non-contact infrared handheld thermometer.

Should you register a body temperature of 100.4 degrees or higher, you will be restricted from entry into the building and must contact your respective agency's Health Services/Medical Division/Human Resources for further instructions.

Please be guided by your agency's individual policies and do not congregate in front of the building to contact your agency.

Maintain social distancing and follow instructions accordingly.

Let's continue to support one another and do our best to avoid the spread of COVID-19.
